Description

This rubber footing is designed as a practical and durable base for JUMBO construction site fences. The rubber footing is particularly suitable for situations where the fence is frequently moved or subjected to rough handling, as it does not get damaged like concrete footings.

The rubber footing makes it easy to lay the bases from, for example, a truck bed without the risk of damage. It is ideal for use on construction sites, at festivals, and other events where flexibility and durability are essential.

Specifications:
